CHURCH CHIMES.

—Nashville was chosen as the place for holding the Christian Endeavor convention in 1898.

—Rev. W. S. Grinstead, who will be assisted by Miss Tuttle, will begin a protracted meeting at McKendree next Sunday.

—Rev. H. B. Cockerill, of Louisville, Bro. Morrison's partner in the publication of the Methodist, will preach morning and night at the Methodist church next Sunday.

—Rev. A. V. Sizemore accompanied Rev. R. B. Mahony to London to assist in ordaining deacons Sunday. Little Mary Mahony and Myrtle and Roberta O'Bannon went with them.

—The High Bridge camp-meeting will begin next Friday and continue 10 days. Brigadier Wm. J. Cozane, of the Salvation Army, assisted by a full corps, will have charge of the devotional services.

—The Holiness camp meeting at Wilmore begins to-day and thither many of the sanctified will go to enjoy a season of sweet communion with kindred spirits. The Cincinnati Southern will give reduced rates.

—The Rev. Dr. Hiner, of Carrollton, who was stricken with paralysis several months ago, and was all along thought to be in an incurable condition, is now rapidly improving, being able to attend services at his church.

—Eld. John I. Rogers, a faithful old soldier of the Cross, preached a touching sermon at the Christian church Sunday. He is 78 years old and very feeble, but he still perseveres in carrying the glad tidings, which he has now done for over 50 years. While here he was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Tate.

—The Methodist meeting lasted from 7 till after 11 the last night that Bro. Morrison was here and the scene at times was a lively one. Many of the sanctified got so happy they could not contain themselves, and giving vent to their feelings shouted in the good old Methodist way. One good sister from the hills created some amusement by joining in the singing. She had a voice almost as strong as a man's and sang with a vim, but would invariably keep a line behind. Finally Bro. Morrison shouted, "You are doing first rate, my sister, but you must try and keep up with the procession." Bro. Morrison has a keen sense of the ridiculous and often laughs out in meeting, either at something funny or in giving vent to his good feelings. He is one of the most companionable of fellows and everybody here likes Morrison and loves for him to come, the oftener the better.

Rev. W. S. Grinstead tells us that the meeting was a great one for the membership, as well as for bringing souls to Christ. Over 30 professed religion and sanctification and Sunday 17 united with the church. Yesterday Mr. Grinstead immersed three of the converts. Misses Ida, Ella and Gracie Holtzclaw.

HUBBLE.

—Mr. Wm. P. Robinson, who was a patient sufferer of liver and lung trouble for some months, departed this life Saturday about noon. His last was to him without a struggle, and he consciously and willingly bid us good-bye in this life, with a full assurance of being escorted by a band of angels to the purer land. He was about 21 years old, a devoted member of the Christian church and his entire life was such as will afford his good father and mother and nine brothers and sisters, a consolation in their bereavement, which they would not exchange for ten thousand such worlds as this. He had a host of friends, and not a single enemy, as is the case with one so pure, gentle and patient in all things. He had a bright future in this life, but oh, how consoling to think he could exchange it for a certain, happy reality around the throne of God, where there can not be slander, thieves can not steal and moth and rust doth never corrupt. The funeral sermon was preached by Rev. Shearin, at McKendree, and the interment was in the Lancaster cemetery Sunday afternoon, to which place a long procession of friends followed to pay his remains their last respects.

—A farmer near Memphis has made $305 this year off of one acre of ground, on which he cultivated raspberries.

Mrs. Mary F. Cobb, great-grand-mother of W. J. Bryan, the democratic nominee, has the distinction of being the oldest citizen of New London, Ind. She is 95 and was born in Kentucky. The old lady is remarkably well preserved and she says she is going to Washington when "Willie" takes his seat as president.

—Nield Terhune says he does not intend to raise any more wheat, if he can help it, and he thinks he can. His reason is that on an average only 10 bushels of wheat are raised to the acre in the United States. "You have to plow the ground, roll it, cut and shock the wheat. Then the thrasher drives in and gets every fourth bushel. You then go to mill and the miller gets a third for grinding. So counting all costs the grower comes out $7 in debt on every acre raised."—Harrodsburg Democrat.

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—Mr. Fred Sutton, near Marksbury, lost 10,000 shingles Sunday by being swept away by the branch.

—Mr. Edward Lane and Miss Lizzie Johnson were united in wedlock at the bride's father's at Bryantville last week.

—Dr. Worrall, of Danville, preached at the Presbyterian church Sunday and also the union at the same church that night.

—Miss Georgie Dunn entertained at her home, "Pine Grove," Tuesday evening in honor of her guests, Misses Higgins and Doty.

—Miss Della Hughes, the handsome daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Hughes, entertained a number of friends Saturday evening at tea.

—Mr. Wm. H. Kavanaugh died Friday night, aged 55 years. The burial took place at Paint Lick Sunday afternoon. A wife and a daughter and many relatives and friends are left to mourn for him.

—Elder Wm. Boswell, of Kentucky University, preached at Antioch Sunday morning and night. He is very much liked there as a minister, giving his hearers some able, forcible sermons.

—Miss Jennie Perkins, a graduate of Garrard College under Prof. C. H. Gordon, commenced teaching the public school at Antioch on the 6th. Miss Katherine West is also teaching at Pleasant Hill.

—Died, Sunday night, at her home near Preachersville, Mrs. Sarah West, aged 29 years. Her burial occurred in the Naylor grave-yard. Three little children are left without a mother's love and care.

—J. D. Osborn bought a nice gelding of W. B. Montgomery for $75. Mr. Henderson bought 3 yearling calves of Thos. Worrell for $35. H. K. Perkins sold a bunch of hogs at 3c. W. C. Miles, of Jessamine, bought of James Browning a bunch of lambs at 4c.

—The recent nominations at Chicago meet with the approbation of a good many Garrard politicians. One is said to have recently remarked, "Mr. Tammamny and Mr. Wall Street have ruled this country long enough. I am glad we are to have a change."

—Miss Bettie Anderson has returned from a protracted stay with her sister, Mrs. W. R. Marrs, of Knoxville, improved in health. The Misses Smiley, of Lexington, are guests of Miss Gertrude Linkenfelter. Miss Lena Gordon Tillett, of Flemingsburg, is visiting Miss Maggie Tomlinson. Miss Bettie Arnold is visiting Mrs. James Fish at Crab Orchard. Coleman Lee is in London on a visit to his mother, Mrs. Theodore Moran. Mrs. Geo. Ballew, of Madison, is visiting Mrs. Joseph Francis. Mrs. B. D. Sparks, of Jessamine, is visiting Mrs. McClelland Johnston. Clyde Herring, of Louisville, is with Dr. H. C. Herring and family. Mrs. R. E. Thompson has returned from Mt. Vernon. Miss Carrie Woods, from the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, is the guest of Garrard relatives. Miss Margaret Noel, of Stanford, is visiting Mrs. Jack Hiatt. Miss Annie Austin is at Crab Orchard. Mrs. W. A. Boosine, of Paris, Texas, is the guest of Mrs. W. B. Jarvis. J. P. Sandifer, of Middleboro, was here last week. Dr. and Mrs. Robert Adams, of Lexington, are visiting here. Mrs. Tom Sandridge and children, of Boyle, were guests of Mrs. H. A. B. Marksbury. Mrs. W. T. Browning and little daughter, of Lexington, are with Mrs. John Anderson. Miss Bettie Robinson is the guest of Miss Mary Dunn at Danville. Mrs. S. P. Grant and children, of Danville, have been visiting Mrs. H. A. Price.

SOMEWHAT LOCAL.

—Prof. and Mrs. J. L. Clark will have charge of the new Methodist Academy at Burnside.

—Colby Jenkins' tobacco barn near Bryantville burned, together with 100,000 pounds of tobacco.

—The claim of Howard, Delong & Co. for $7,599 due them for construction of the Danville water works, was arbitrated and settled at $6,145.

—John T. Hatcher, aged 50, died of kidney and bladder trouble at London. He was a Baptist and a Mason. A wife and daughter survive him.

—The 10-ton steel shears of the Watts Steel & Iron Syndicate, of Middleboro, were partly demolished while cutting cold steel billets. The loss is $10,000.

—Mrs. Dr. Forsythe fell from the second story window of her residence at Harrodsburg, the evening she was to give the young people a party and was so severely injured it had to be postponed.

—Martha Wilder, living in Clay county, took her infant, only a few days old, out in an old field, and laying it down in a secluded place, piled rocks around it and rails over it, leaving it to die. The insects had nearly eaten it up when found.

—Mr. Will J. Owsley, of Midway, was yesterday adjudged of unsound mind in the county court, upon affidavits of two physicians, and a committee will be appointed to manage his estate. Mr. Owsley is at High Oaks Sanitarium, Lexington, and little hope is expressed for his recovery.—Woodford Sun.

DEATH DOINGS.

—The death of Mrs. James Givens, which occurred at 4 o'clock Friday morning in the Lexington Lunatic Asylum, recalls one of the saddest cases ever entered in real life. In the heyday of their youth, Mr. James Givens led Miss Margaret J. Bright, a happy bride to the hymenial altar. She was passing fair to look upon and lovable and lovely in every way, and pride and love filled her joyous husband's heart. For 30 years they enjoyed supreme happiness and then their troubles began. Sickness came to the wife and continuing finally affected her mind. The doting husband was overwhelmed with sorrow and when at last it became necessary to confine her in a mad house his grief was pitiful. That was 21 years ago. Once or twice he had her brought back home to see if he could not nurse her back to reason, but in vain and for all these years she has been shut up in the asylum, while he has suffered in silence and alone in the home so cruelly broken up. Few men could pass through such an ordeal as Mr. Givens and proved so true and faithful. Year after year he has met her expenses, praying and hoping for a better day which never came. Practically shut off from the world, which held but little of interest for him, he has kept inviolate the memory of her, who gave her young heart into his keeping, and although borne down with sorrow which manifested itself on his personal appearance, he troubled no one with his troubles, but sorrowed in silence and alone. All honor to the noble old man and may Heaven be brighter to her and him for what they have suffered.

Mrs. Givens, who was a sister of Mr. John Bright, was born in this county June 24, 1828, and was married to Mr. Givens in 1843. They were raised on adjoining farms and knew each other from childhood, there being but four years difference in their ages. Mrs. Givens joined the Christian church while quite young and until her misfortune she was an active church worker. The remains were brought home for interment and were followed to the cemetery by a long procession of people, many of whom remembered and loved her. Dr. Joseph Ballou officiated at the grave in a short service and then the earth hid from view one of the principal sufferers in the life tragedy.

CRAB ORCHARD.

—The distillery of J. W. James closed down for the season Saturday.

—The Crab Orchard base ball nine will play Danville during the week.

—Pettus & Payne have moved their drug store to S. Vanderpool's store room near the depot.

—Willie, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. John Edmiston, was buried Wednesday. Much sympathy is felt for them in their grief.

—The continued wet weather has damaged the wheat very much in this county, as but few farmers have gotten their crops threshed.

—Messrs. Bronaugh & Herrin will ship a car of hogs and cattle to Cincinnati Tuesday that they have been feeding at the James distillery.

It is rumored that Winter from a distance and Spring who resides in Crab Orchard will unite their destinies. It is better to be an old man's darling than a young man's slave.

—Mrs. Eliza Carson and Mrs. L. A. Pettus continue quite ill. Dr. Black and wife, of Knoxville, are visiting Mrs. M. E. Fish. Mr. J. E. Carson's little daughter, Rhoda May, is seriously ill, it is feared, of typhoid fever. Mrs. Charles Redd, Jr., is visiting her sister, Mrs. Kate Potter, at Manchester.

—Mr. Ray Elliott, of Maysville, and Prof. E. B. Ritchie, of Tazewell, Tenn., are guests of Mr. John Edmiston. Prof. Ritchie and sister, Miss Jennie, will have charge of the Crab Orchard school this session; Mrs. Dr. Payne will teach at Walnut Flat and Miss Georgia Lewis at the Holmes school house. We feel confident that no part of the county is supplied with better teachers.

—Miss Bettie McFall has arrived from DeLand, Fla., and will be the guest of Mrs. Lula Stuart. Mrs. B. G. Gover and children are visiting Mrs. M. A. Singleton. The Misses Arnold, who have been visiting their aunt, Mrs. M. E. Fish, returned to Lancaster Monday. Mrs. A. H. Bastin and son are visiting in Paris. Mrs. Goggin and granddaughter, who have been visiting Mrs. Bettie King, went to Stanford Saturday to visit relatives. Mr. H. D. McClure and wife, of McKinney, have been visiting his mother. Dr. W. S. Reazley and sister, Miss Mattie, went to Clear Creek Springs Sunday. He is in wretched health and hopes to be restored by the waters at these Springs. Mrs. Laura Moore and family have returned to Crab Orchard and rented Mrs. Barker's property for the summer. Mr. J. H. Stephens and family have moved from Lexington back to Crab Orchard. He says Crab Orchard beats the world.

—There was only one starter in the merchants' stakes at Latonia Saturday and Lokl got $1,000 for galloping slowly around.

JOHN D. WHITE

Speaks at Liberty and Makes a Big Impression.

The Hon. John D. White addressed the people of Casey county at the courthouse on the 10th. Notwithstanding some of the bills announcing his appointment were known to have been torn down, and others supposed to have been by vandals opposed to free speech, he was greeted with a very respectable audience both in character and size. We all were most agreeably surprised. It was the first time he ever spoke here and we expected to find a bulldozer and a crank, but instead we found an intellectual gentleman, and his speech was praised by both parties. He was introduced by Judge Belden and in his introductory claimed that he was the candidate of the republican party. He explained republican rules and usages, and showed where the officials of the party were not complying with them. Read republican rules on the subject of primary elections, and explained the action of the party at Williamsburg in April. He showed by reading the rules, that it was the duty of the party to pay the expenses of the primary, and that officials had no right to receive $1,500 on each candidate to pay its expenses. He fully explained the crookedness of the action of the district committee in the last election, its forged proxies, and illegality; and clearly exhibited the weakness of Judge Jones in the injunction case. He believed he is entitled to be the nominee of the republican party, and if not the choice, he does not want the nomination. He reviewed Colson's votes in Congress and showed where he voted for populist and bimetallic measures. He read P. W. Hall's affidavit of Perry county, showing how Col. Adams was cheated out of the nomination in the last race, and also explained how he was robbed of $750 for expenses of a primary, which was not held. He gave an account of his stewardship in Congress some years ago, claiming that all of his votes were for republican measures. He gave a history of the currency question from the foundation of the government to the present time. He reviewed the tariff and is for so adjusting it as to wipe out the whole internal revenue system. He was frequently enthusiastically applauded, some present claiming that it was the ablest speech ever made in Liberty. Mrs. Melissa Adams, Mrs. Sallie J. Humphrey and Miss Sallie Wolford were present.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS ENCAMPMENT.

PARKS HILL, NICHOLAS CO., July 12.—The wind-up here to-day of the week's encampment on the beautiful Deering Camp Meeting Grounds of the uniform rank of the Knights of Pythias drew a large crowd. Excursion trains at a low rate brought men, women and children from all directions, the ladies predominating as to numbers. Excellent speeches were made by members of the Order which were loudly applauded, the Carlisle K. P. Band discoursed inspiring music, perfect order prevailed, Blue Lick water flowed freely, everybody had a good time generally and the day's program will redound to the good of the Order. The belles and beaux of the Blue-Grass had a regular old fashioned picnic. Paris sent a larger delegation of them than any other town.

Capt. W. H. Kirby was there and apparently the most popular man on the ground with the ladies. He was hailed right and left by them and when asked about it, said they were relatives, that he had a great many in that section, but his explanation was not altogether satisfactory. His wife ought to know something about how he does when he gets out of her sight, but I wouldn't tell her under any consideration, for he is a dyed in the wool K. P.

Several got left at Stanford on account of the early departure of the train, but those who got here were Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Cummins and Miss Bettie DeBord, Messrs. Robert Bosley, Joe S. Rice, Charley Hayden, John Meier, Wm. Rice, Joe F. Waters and Albert Severance.

In answer to a telegram, Rev. and Mrs. J. T. Sharrard came with us as far as Paris to attend the burial of his aunt, Mrs. Carson, which took place in that city this afternoon.

The large dining room and kitchen on the Parks Hill grounds burned yesterday afternoon, together with their contents, and the managers said they could not entertain the crowd as well as they had intended, but they did remarkably well under the circumstances.

Prominent in the exhibition uniform drill to-day was Knight Jake Joseph, of Lancaster. He belongs to a number of secret orders and is always on hand when the roll is called. I noticed also several old gray-haired men in the procession, who in handsome uniforms understood their business and by their earnestness must have convinced the crowd that the Order is a good thing for this selfish world. SRETAW.

W. P. WALTON.

THE INTERIOR JOURNAL hoped that after the Chicago convention had forced a red hot free silver declaration upon us and had adopted other planks at variance with the ideas of many democrats, it would nominate a man, like Bland for instance, whose democracy is unquestioned and whose record is long and straight. The convention, nevertheless, thought Mr. Bryan better fitted to stand on the platform and made him the standard bearer. It is not our purpose now, however, either to criticize the platform or find fault with the nominee. Our readers know that we did all in our humble power to stem the free silver tide and fought for the gold standard till the last day in the evening. But that is not here nor there. We do not arrogate to ourselves more wisdom than is possessed by the majority of the constituted authorities of the party, and believing in the right of that majority to dictate the platform, we have climbed upon the one adopted at Chicago, and while snoring no conviction previously expressed, nor at the same time professing any infallibility, we shall endeavor to stand upon it with both feet and give the nominees our hearty support. So hurray for Bryan and Sewall and may the devil take McKinley and his running mate.

The Courier-Journal renounces the ticket and the platform and calls for a convention of real democrats to nominate a ticket, which it says will not be elected, but will save the party from disgrace. The Post raves against the whole business and says: "Secession, revolutionary tactics, anarchy, Tillmanism and free silver can never be the watchwords of democracy." Many of the leading papers of the East and some in the South and West also repudiate the work of the convention. The outlook is a little equally, but we believe that Bryan and Sewall can win.

The most disgraceful act of a convention, which presented many disgraceful scenes, was performed by the ignorant blatherer from South Carolina, who represents that State in the U. S. Senate. His coarse abuse of President Cleveland and his effort to have a resolution passed condemning his administration were even of a lower grade than his previous performances and should damn him in the eyes of all honest people. Tillman is a jackassical buffoon and would disgrace even the republican party.

Woodson, of the Owensboro Messenger, is as good as landing on his feet as a cat. A month ago he wanted it distinctly understood that he was the first, great original and only Stevenson man. Stevenson wasn't mentioned in the convention and now Mr. Woodson searches his files and finds this of date June 16, 1895, which he prints in bold black type, "Keep an eye on that young man Bryan. Some day he may be president." We always said that man Woodson was a great man.

It is said that Editor Sam J. Roberts, of the Lexington Leader, will be satisfied with the collectorship of that district. Such modesty is commendable, but Roberts deserves something a great deal better than that if McKinley is elected. He has been the Ohioan's faithful champion in season and out of season and if he doesn't give him the beet in his shop he will be liable to the charge of base ingratitude.

It turned out just as we expected. Nobody ever took Joe Blackburn's candidacy for the presidency seriously, though he did manage to get 83 votes on the first ballot. On the next he only got 41, next 27 and then the Kentucky crowd seeing the way the cat was going to jump gave him the g. h. and voted for Bryan, and Joe will have "to remain longer in the ranks" as Rhea suggested.

FRANK HUBB, of Ohio, the original free trader, died Friday, and a good deal of pure democracy went with him. The 50 cent statesmen were doing their best at Chicago at the time to kill the whole party, but it was not born to die, and we trust it will come out of the fiery furnace, through which it has passed, unscathed.

ANOTHER thing can be said in favor of the young man Bryan. He comes of good old Virginia stock, his father being a native of Culpepper county, Va., which adjoins Orange county, the home of Madison and is very near Albemarle, the home of Jefferson.

SENATOR HILL is living up to his assertion that he is democrat. He says he does not endorse the platform but will support the ticket. That is the only way for democrats to do if they would maintain party organization.

EDITOR J. L. BOSLEY, finding doubtless that the old adage, "It is just as well to kill a dog as to give him a bad name," is also too true, has changed the name of his paper from the Republican to the Paris Reporter.

The free silver men claim that they will carry the South and all States West of the Mississippi, giving them 238 votes and the election. We hope so and at present it looks so.

BRYAN & SEWALL

Is the Ticket Named at Chicago.

Nebraska and Maine United and Free Silver The Cry.

AFTER the adoption of the platform by the Chicago convention, of which we told in our last issue, the nomination of candidates for the presidency began. Senator Vest named Bland, John S. Rhea performed a like service for Blackburn, White, of Iowa, nominated Boies, Senator Turpie presented the name of Gov. Matthews, while H. T. Lewis, of Georgia, sang the praises of W. J. Bryan, of Nebraska, in the shortest of speeches. John R. McLean was also named. Their oratorical efforts together with the second night's session and closed the night's show. Rhea's speech nominating Blackburn was hardly up to his best, but considering his subject it was perhaps as good as he or any other man could make.

Next morning nominations being still in order, Mr. Harry placed Gov. R. E. Pattison, of Pennsylvania, in nomination. Delegate Miller, of Oregon, added to the list of nominations the name of Sylvester Pennoyer, of Oregon. The names of Bland, Bryan, Boies, Blackburn, Matthews, McLean, Pattison and Pennoyer were before the convention, and the first ballot was at 11:08 Friday ordered and the call of States began, resulting as follows: Bland 233; Boies 86; Matthews 37; McLean 54; Bryan 105; Blackburn 83; Pattison 95; Campbell 2; Russell 2; Pennoyer 10; Tillman 17; Hill 1; Stevenson 2; Teller 8; not voting 185. On the 2d ballot Bland climbed to 281 and Bryan to 197. On the 3d Bland gained 10 and Bryan went to 219. On the 4th Bland dropped back to 241, while Bryan shot up to 280, the rest standing: Boies 33, Matthews 33, McLean 46, Blackburn 27, Pattison 27, Stevenson 8, Hill 1. Not voting 136. The 5th ballot ordered at 2:55 was never completed. State after State broke to Bryan and before half they were called it was seen that he would be nominated. Motion to declare him the nominee unanimously was carried and the thing was done, amid an enthusiasm rarely ever seen before. The convention then adjourned till 8 P. M.

It took almost as much time and just as many ballots to nominate a candidate for the tail as for the head of the ticket and there were more men voted for. On the first ballot Sibley, of Pennsylvania, got 163 votes, Sewall, of Maine, 100, McLean, of Ohio, 111, Williams, of Massachusetts, 76, Boies 20, Bland 62, Clark, of North Carolina, 50, Williams, of Illinois, 22, Harry 19, Blackburn 20, Lewis, of Washington, 11, Daniel 11 and so on. Boies' name was withdrawn before the second ballot, Sewall dropped to 37 and Bland went up to 285. Sibley's name was withdrawn on a telegram from him; so was McLean's and so was Bland's and on the 5th and final ballot Arthur Sewall, of Bath, Maine, received 565 votes and the nomination. On this ballot Kentucky stuck to McLean with 13 votes and gave Sewall 13. It was now 2:55 Saturday afternoon and the business of the convention having been concluded, it adjourned sine die at 3:12, after being in session five days and breaking the record for enthusiasm and fervid oratory.

Mr. Sewall, the nominee, though practically unknown to the masses, is well and favorably known in the East, where he is largely interested in railways, shipping and banking. He was president of the Maine Central railroad for nine years and is now the president of a bank at Bath, besides being interested in many other enterprises. He is a splendid specimen of physical manhood and does not look near as old as he is—61. He has a wife and two grown sons. He says the free silver sentiment is very strong in Maine and he would not be surprised if the ticket carried the State.

Owing to the failure of the Cincinnati Southern to connect yesterday, we can not present the pictures of the nominees that we had ordered.

Bryan received over 1,500 congratulatory telegrams the day of his nomination.

A Bryan club 200 strong was organized at Portland, Ind., in less than an hour after the nomination at Chicago.

Marston, of Louisiana, tried to have the convention abrogate the two-thirds rule. He was ruled out of order and blazed out of sight.

The Kentucky delegation obeyed the unit instruction till it suited them not to. The delegates divided between a half dozen candidates for vice president.

Senator Hill and Mr. Whitney left Chicago for New York before the convention adjourned. Mr. Hill said his departure was not to be construed as a bolt.

Francis G. Newlands, the independent silver Congressman from Nevada, says: "The nomination of Bryan will undoubtedly be endorsed by the populists, the silver republicans and independent silver organization."

When informed of his nomination for president Mr. Bryan wrote out a statement, addressed to the American people, declaring that, if elected, he would not be a candidate for re-election, which to say the least was a little premature.

The nominees will not be told of what the Chicago convention did till some time in August and then they will be gotten together in Madison Square Garden, New York, and notified. J. E. Garner is the Kentucky representative on the Bryan committee and R. H. Tomlinson will be one of the committee to break the secret to Sewall.

Over 100 delegates to the convention, all of whom, with the exception of the gold delegation from Wisconsin and a portion of the delegation from Minnesota, came from east of the Alleghenies, refused to participate in the nomination of a presidential candidate on a free silver platform. Over 250 declined to participate in a nomination for vice president. Many of the gold delegates had left the city in disgust.

Jack Chinn, Bob Franklin, Eph Lillard and Jack Jones formed the side show for the big convention. Jack was the cynosure of all eyes and when the quartet sang "There's Trouble in the Land," as they did on every occasion, they were heartily applauded. By the way they have now changed the song to read "There's no More Trouble in the Land." "There's joy in the land since Bryan took the people out of Wall Street's hand," and "He will save mankind from the golden cross."

The nomination of William Jennings Bryan, of Lincoln, Nebraska, "The Boy Orator of the Platte," by the Chicago convention for the presidency, shows the power of oratory and this wild way that men often act under excitement. His name had not been seriously considered. In fact, the fact that he had two years ago withdrawn from the democratic organization and accepted many of the populist ideas rather put him out of the pale of consideration. He went to the convention with a contesting delegation from his State, however, the credentials committee gave them seats, he made a burning speech in advocacy of the 16 to 1 free silver coinage platform, which electrified the delegates, his star shot away up in the firmament and cries of "Nominate him," "Nominate Bryan," were heard all thro the vast crowd. A ballot right then would have settled the question in his favor, but it was out of order, and after the wildest of exhibitions of enthusiasm had spent itself the regular business proceeded. The current had started though and its course could not be headed. It was hard to keep the delegates in line for the old stagers and when on the 5th ballot the break came, the wild demonstrations of the day before were doubly discounted. Mr. Bryan is by 16 years the youngest man ever nominated for the presidency. Born just before the breaking out of the civil war, he is just 36 years of age and but one year past the requisite age for presidents. He was born in Salem, Ill., and graduated at Illinois College in 1881 with the honors of class orator and valedictorian. Afterwards he took a course in the Union College of Law at Chicago and while there was in the office of the late Lyman Trumbull. In 1887 he moved to his present home in Nebraska and formed a law partnership with A. R. Talbot, a class mate. He soon became prominent in politics and in 1890 was elected to Congress by a 6,713 majority, although the district had previously gone republican by 3,400. In Congress he was put on the ways and means committee and during the session made a tariff speech, which was the sensation of the day. The republican Legislature of his State tried to gerrymander him out of election, but he was again elected to Congress in 1892 in the changed district. He was one of the framers of the Wilson tariff bill, for which he did effective work. He declined to stand for Congress in 1894 and resumed his law practice, later on becoming chief editor of the Omaha World-Herald.

In 1894 Mr. Bryan married Miss Mary Baird, of Parry, Ill., who was at college at the same time and in the same town that he was. She is a few years younger than her husband and like him is a lawyer, having studied the science and been admitted to the bar in order to be more companionable to him. They have three children, two girls and a boy, the oldest, Ruth, being 10 years of age. He is a Cumberland Presbyterian and no Presbyterian was ever defeated for the presidency, except by a Presbyterian, Harrison having beat Cleveland, both being Presbyterians. A man of great magnetism and of striking appearance, he bears the impress of statesmanship and is indeed a combination of qualities that draws one to him the more his character is studied. He is an orator of the most impressive school and his voice, which it is said will be raised in every doubtful State during the campaign, will be worth thousands of voters to the ticket.

—Illinois and Texas gold men have declared in favor of a new convention. —A mad dog bit little Eddie Lankheart, of Lexington, 23 times. The wounds were cauterized and he may recover. —It is thought that the Arkansas populist State convention, which meets in Little Rock, Wednesday, will endorse the Chicago ticket. —Chauncey Depew says that Tillman is an ignorant demagogue and Altgeld a wild-eyed revolutionist. In both cases he strikes centre. —Chairman K. P. Stoll, of the appellate district committee, has called the committee to meet July 16, at Lexington, to declare A. R. Burnam, Richmond, the republican nominee for appellate judge for this district, in opposition to Chief Justice Pryor. —The Third district republican convention, to nominate a candidate for Congress, has been called to meet at Bowling Green July 28. —The Shelby Sentinel appeals to its county democrats to stand by Mr. Forre assuring them if they do he will win the nomination handsomely. —Judge Barr, of the United States district court, has appointed Walter Chapman, a popular young lawyer of Frankfort, to be federal court clerk and commissioner. —The leaders of the populists and National silver parties declare that their organizations will also nominate Bryan for president at the convention to be held July 22, at St. Louis. —Samuel Walker, Jr., of Trenton, has tendered his resignation as a member of the New Jersey democratic State committee, and says he will vote the republican ticket in November. —Mr. S. C. Hardin, of Clinton, a brother of our own townsmen, Mark and Ben Hardin, has announced his candidacy for Congress in the 11th district. Sam is a good man and a true democrat and we should like to see him send the Hon. David G. to grass. —Bryan's nomination has at once recalled to many democrats the statements made by him at Jackson, Miss., and Birmingham, Ala., that if the democratic National convention adopted a gold plank he would die before he would support its nominee. The young man was excited at the time perhaps, and didn't mean what he said. —After a stormy session of the republican State central committee, Gwathmey, the Todd-McKinley man, was seated as committeeman in the 5th congressional district. Chairman Barnett appointed Messrs. Colson, Deboe and Roberts on the campaign committee, but the State central committee insisted on appointing a committee to select the campaign committee and finally this action was taken.

TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF LINCOLN COUNTY.

See Meade, Announces His Candidacy for Sheriff.

Although I have felt great hesitation in announcing myself a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Lincoln county, this early, I am compelled to do so on account of a report that is being circulated that I will not become a candidate, which, if allowed to remain undisturbed, would allow many of my friends to pledge themselves. While considering the advisability of making this race, I have found but one argument that is being circulated and scattered broadcast among the voters concerning myself and that is that "the office has for some years past been held by my father and my uncle, Mr. Newland."

The opposition tells you this is running things in the family, and that I should, therefore, be put down.

In answer to this I wish to remind the voters that one of the gentlemen who is opposing me has already been honored by them eight years as sheriff of Lincoln county and was also a candidate for the office of sheriff at the last election. The other candidate is somewhat in my own condition when relatives are brought in to consideration, as he for 16 years had in our county clerk's office a brother-in-law and a sister, who may be classed among the best and most efficient officers the county has ever had. No man will ever lift his voice to condemn any official act of Col. John Blain or his excellent wife. It is not my object to say one word in derogation of either of them and I have nothing to say of them, save to remind my fellow voters that they were allowed to hold office free from opposition as long as they desired, and they deserved it.

Then looking upon this race in the light of the facts presented and from a common sense standpoint, I can not see why I am less entitled to your consideration than either of my opponents.

Two of us have had relatives in office, from whom neither of us have reaped any benefit—save for a season I was deputy, and acted in the capacity of a hireling under my father—the other having held office for eight years. It does seem they should not make this issue and I only mention it as it has already been made as a mighty fight against my becoming a candidate.

In presenting myself to the consideration of the public, I do not hesitate to point them to my past record as Deputy Sheriff, and as a citizen, I am now 24 years of age and feel that, should I be honored by my fellowmen, that I understand the business, and promise you that I shall, at all times, conduct all business entrusted to me in a business-like and an honest way.

I am at present engaged in a business that confines me a considerable portion of my time, and should I fail to see you in the canvass for the primary, I hope you will at least give me a consideration, and no one shall be prouder of your support than myself.

It is worthy of remark that not one of the 13 convicts, taken to the penitentiary from this county last week, is a democrat.

More than 12 years ago the Mt. Sterling Gazette was established by J. C. & L. T. Wood. Since then it has had many vicissitudes and once or twice has been sold under the hammer. The original owners have again come into possession of it. May it live long and prosper under their watch care.

A PENNY mistake occurred in a dispatch sent from here to the Louisville Times in response to the question "How do the democrats in Stanford regard the nomination?" The correspondent answered "Some democrats on first blush say they will not support Bryan, but the majority will fall into line." It was printed in the paper "Some democrats at first blush and say, etc."

The public duly appreciates the Western Union Telegraph Co.'s free gift of the convention news from Chicago. All the operators were permitted to take the bulletins free of charge and they were sent out so promptly that the people of Stanford knew in less than a minute afterwards what was being done in the convention. This office is indebted both to the company and its accommodating agent here, Mr. Joe S. Rice, for keeping us furnished with the latest.

This meeting of the South Eastern Kentucky Medical Society at Mt. Vernon, was, Dr. J. G. Carpenter tells us, the best in its history. His term of office expired and he delivered a splendid address, "Who are the Physician's Greatest Enemies and What Shall the End Be?" which was received with many evidences of hearty approval. He also gave some interesting demonstrations on canvas of the various stages of stricture and other diseases. The election of officers resulted in the selection of Dr. W. M. Herndon, of Harboursville, president; Dr. Parker, of Corbin, vice president, and Dr. J. K. Mason, of London, secretary and treasurer. A banquet at the Miller House followed, at which wit and humor as well as many other good things were on tap. The association now numbers 61 and is constantly growing. The next meeting will be at Williamsburg.

LINNETTA'S OPENING HOP.—One of the most delightful hops that has been enjoyed by the young people of this section for some time was that at Linnetta Springs Friday night. It was the first of the season and the belles and beaux were there in numbers to see that the weekly hop at that charming summer resort started off right. The music was excellent, the evening was propitious and if there was anything to prevent the young folks from having a royal good time it was not apparent. The ball room was artistically decorated with bunting, flowers and evergreens and the scene presented when the merry dance was at full blast was one not soon to be forgotten. At 11:30 Manager Owens and wife invited their guests to refreshments that were served in the second story and for an hour or more the good things were discussed. There is already a nice little crowd at the springs and this week will bring many others who engaged rooms as soon as they heard that they would be open. The Messrs. Owens, senior and junior, and Mrs. Owens are doing all in their power to make their guests happy and are demonstrating to all their fitness for the positions they occupy.

The U. B. F. picnic, which will occur next Friday in Vandevener's woods, is going to draw like a sticking plaster. All the colored people in this and adjoining counties will be here and we trust the excellent order will make a good thing.

ATTENTION is called to the advertisement of the State College, which appears in this issue. Under the management of President James K. Patterson, assisted by an able corps of teachers, this institution has become one of which the whole State is proud. The course is thorough and practical and such that fits the student for any walk in life.

It is said that Joseph Phelps, of the Southern end of the county, and James King, of the East End, are each very anxious for the republican nomination for sheriff, and will give our old friend, Josiah Bishop, the best in their shops to secure it. They all know it is a waste of time, but will be satisfied with whatever honor there is in getting the nomination for the office. It takes mighty little to satisfy some people.

The county court was presided over by Squire W. L. Dawson yesterday, in place of the regular judge, who is drawing pay for work he doesn't do, while chasing the phantasmagoria of an office, he is not competent to fill. The will of Mrs. Hannah Jones, which was contested by her husband, F. J. Jones, because she gave most of her property to the Methodist Orphan's Home at Louisville, was finally probated. Mrs. B. C. Pennybaker was granted license to retail liquors at Kingsville.

The heavy rain of early Saturday morning, which was almost equal to a cloudburst, did some little damage to W. W. Withers' store, Ed Wilkinson's barber shop, and considerable to Mrs. A. B. McKinney's millinery store and Mr. R. Williams' garden and cellar. The sewer on Main street was stopped up and the water washed through Mr. Williams' garden into the store-rooms and through them to Main street. The water was nearly a foot deep in Mr. Withers' store and the barber shop when the owners went to open up that morning.

The Lancaster Record says that Capt. William Herndon is satisfied that greatness is but a name and that fame is an empty bubble. A fellow dropped into the captain's office the other day and inquired for Letcher Owsley. He was directed to Mr. Owsley's office, but found that the young limb of the law was absent. After waiting around an hour, and Mr. O. still being non est, the fellow went back to the captain's office and innocently inquired, "Is there any other lawyer in town but Mr. Owsley?" And thereupon the captain fainted.

SHORT HIS WIFE.—The news came Friday night that Finley Campbell had shot and killed his wife at their home over the knob. Sheriff Newland went to the scene and found the woman shot in the shoulder, arm and breast, but not seriously wounded. Campbell had fled, saying he was going to kill himself. The officer returned to town and shortly afterwards the would-be uxoricide came in, with his 32 pistol in his hand and gave himself up.

Campbell told a reporter for this paper the following story. "For two years my wife and I have not lived happily together, but I did not know she was untrue to me until my little son told me that he had seen her with her arms around Achilles Crutchfield in my own house. This occurred several months ago, but my son did not tell me about it until Friday. I went immediately to see Crutchfield, who is my nearest neighbor, and while he denied having been intimate with my wife, his looks showed that he had. I asked him to go with me to see my wife, who was at Adam Petrey's, which he did, and there both of them protested their innocence. I then asked my wife to go home with me, when she called me a Negro son-of-a-b—h and said she was going to her father's house and that Crutchfield should go with her. This was more than I could stand and I tried to kill her. I was driven to it, for God knows if there ever was a man who has had trouble I am the one. I came very near killing myself, I was so miserable." Campbell's looks indicated that he was in deep distress and he cried like a child while he talked. His wife is a daughter of Yancey Smith. She had frequently left him, he said, and on various occasions threatened to leave him and marry some of her neighbors. She is only 20, and is said to be good looking. Campbell has three children by his first wife and her treatment of them is said to have commenced the trouble. He was placed under guard and will be tried to-day.

"Killis" Crutchfield, who was here yesterday, says he can and will prove at the trial to-day that he is innocent of the charge made by Campbell and that the latter is trying to bring him into the case in order to gain sympathy.

THE white teachers' institute will be held during the week beginning Aug. 17, with Prof. T. C. Cherry, of Bowling Green, conductor. The colored institute will be a week later and Prof. C. C. Monroe will conduct it.

STOLE HOGS.—Charlie Adams, a good looking white boy, was placed in jail yesterday charged with stealing two hogs from Mr. W. P. Grimes. The hogs were found in his possession, but he claims he bought them of a colored boy.

With some exceptions the Lincoln county democracy will accept the Chicago ticket. Mr. M. J. Farris, who was up from Boyle yesterday, said that a few gold men there say they will not support it, but the large majority will. It seems to be about that way all over the State and country.
